WORKING WITH US

Kim started Northwest Sparks in 2017 as an outlet for her combined love of being outdoors and creating beautiful spaces. As an environmental biologist, Kim's passion is creating beautiful things that add life and joy to space, with the belief that products should be sustainable to both people and the environment. Kim creates hand poured, small batch soy candles using soy wax and cotton wicks. These burn cleanly without off-gassing petroleum or heavy metals (why are these in normal candles?!?!). Northwest Sparks also offers high quality diffusers for folks who cannot have open flames. All products are free of phthalates, dyes, lead and provide a long, clean, eco-friendly burn.

Minimal packaging is used whenever possible in our commitment to be environmentally friendly.
